

Shades of Goldie

These dogs are all Golden Retrievers, but they all look a little bit different. In fact, some Golden Retrievers aren't even gold – they can be red, white, orange, and every color in between. The answer is somewhere in their DNA, the molecule that is the building block of all living things.

How many different types of yellow or orange can you color these Goldies?

