I think, therefore I woof

The average dog is about as intelligent as a 2-year-old human child. They can both learn 165 words and gestures. The top 20 percent of dogs are able to learn 250 words. "No more treats" doesn't seem to be among phrases recognized by most dogs, though. Stanley Coren, canine expert and professor at the University of British Columbia, says the smartest pooches are Border Collies, Poodles, and German Shepherds (in that order).
