

COLORING FUN

DID YOU KNOW?

Americans know the story of the Founding Fathers, but what about their dogs? It turns out having a dog is part of the country's DNA:

- Benjamin Franklin owned a black Newfoundland. Historical records suggest the dog may have had a penchant for mischief.
- John Adams owned a mixed-breed dog who had a puppy that was taken care of by his wife Abigail. These dogs were the first pups to live in the White House.